“People are getting married because they think they need to by certain age, buying homes because they think they’re supposed to. I blame our norms, our expectations. You don’t have to have it figured out by 30.”

He invests in small companies which he finds to have potential, he invested in Twitter, Tumblr, Facebook, Snapchat, and even Uber when they were still small companies.

“Whether you’re an entrepreneur, small business, or a Fortune 500 company, great marketing is all about telling your story in such a way that it compels people to buy what are you selling. That’s a constant. What’s always in flux, especially in this noisy, mobile world, is how, when, and where the story gets told, and even who gets to tell it.”

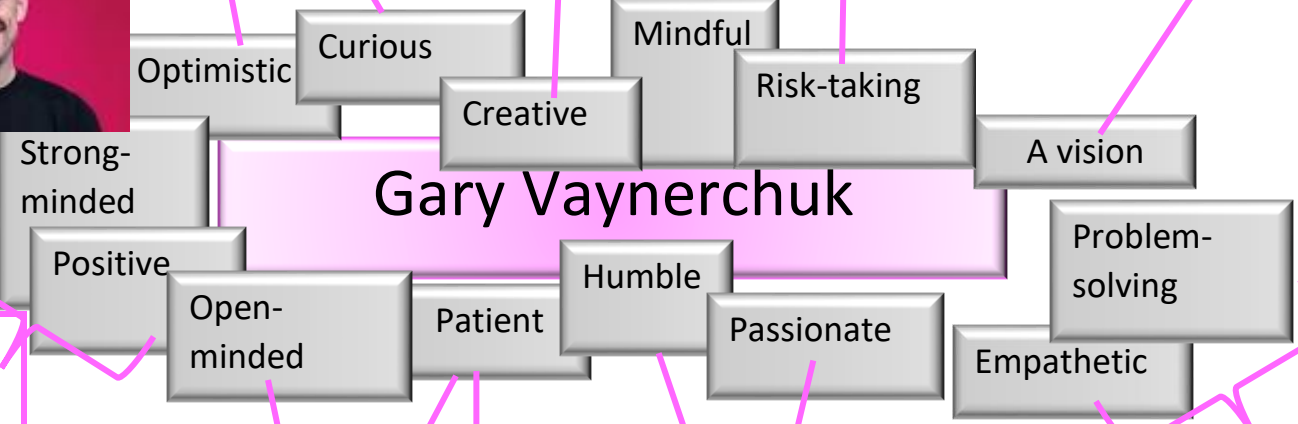

„I don’t ask often. If I have a hypothesis, I need to taste it immediately and just see where it takes me.”

„Everybody is trying to walk where the world is now and by the time they get there the world moved on. If you go to your thing and set a flag on your thing, and not follow a trend, I believe the world will come to you. Think outside the box.”

“The main thing is realizing that even if you feel terrible for a while, that’s not how are you going to feel the whole time. Things change if you just keep moving.”

Gary Vaynerchuk

„I put zero weight into anyone’s opinion about me, because I know exactly who am.”

When he was pointing out the part of the project that he didn’t like to his workers he said- “And I wont be mad at you guys, you’ve been here not that long and you already know that I change my mind all the time.”

“Work ethic is an absolute pillar of variable to being successful and if you are passionate about something, it doesn’t feel like work. And that’s a big deal.”

He has an Instagram account where people can send him messages and he answers to their questions, problems. He also has something called “Tea with GaryVee” where he goes live with random people and gives them advices for their

“Put it super-duper long-term, and do it sooner rather than later, if some of your investments do not yield immediate returns, in the long run they will. Unless America disappears off the face of the Earth, it is probably a good bet.”

“Even if your ambitions are huge, start slow, start small, build gradually, build smart.”

“What are you valuing that’s making you conform into doing something that doesn’t make you happy? Your current overhead? Sell your home and rent. Live more humble, live with judgement, you could always get a job again.”
